That providing the best in music in this city was a business proposition as well as an artistic one was stated by Mrs. Henry D. Ross, president of the state federation of musical clubs. Opening her remarks by describing how a group of energetic men and women are giving their time and money to make America the musical center of the world, Mrs. Ross brought Miss Glenna Miller and Mrs. Neeley, the subject down to Phoenix and Ariassistants; program committee, Mrs. zona and how great is the need for a Corbett, chairman; Miss Susan Parry, concerted effort on the part of men About 35 were present. The ciub was not able to sell 1,000 course tickets at $5 each. She named other Arizona cities where greater financial support was given in a like cause.
This year, Mrs. Ross said, the Musical Events club has planned an even stronger course, for which more money will be necessary. She urged that the experience of last year be not repeated and that the business men, represented by the Rotary club, get behind the project and see it through to Mr. Wamsley and his sons a fine success.

Mrs. Ross was followed by Mrs. W E. Defty, the first president of the Musicians' club, who interestingly described the modern ideas of musical education which takes away the fads and frills and places it on the plane where it belongs, a course of educa-tion which should be provided for every child. That Arizona tional institutions are far bedind in musical way was shown by Mrs. Defty when she said that the University of Arizona provided no musical course and that the Phoenix high school had ut one small one.

The value of music to children in physical, mental and spiritual way was outlined by the speaker who declared that music was a great aid in a social way. She also made a plea for support for the Musical Events club and terday received notification of the appointment of Dr. Bojidar Pouritch as consul of the kingdom of the Serbs, the fine things it was trying to do for
